King Alexander and His Wife Had a Violent
Quarrel.

SHE DRANK POISON

Then She Rushed About the Palace Shrieking, "Help, Help, Save Me."

CRISIS IN BELGRADE

Buda Pesth, Nov. 21.—The Zlatav (Nemphar) publishes what it alleges are the details of the Belgrade sensation of yesterday according to that paper. King Alexander and Queen Draga quarreled violently and the king slapped the queen's face. Then the later withdrew to her boudoir and drank poison. She then rushed about the palace shrieking "help, help, save me." The doctors quickly administered remedies and the queen's

The Neue Freie Presse and other Vienna papers publish various rumors one declaring that the Serbian queen was assassinated, another that she was wounded and a third that she committed suicide.

Reports from other sources deny the statement that Queen Draga was killed and assert that the rumor of her death was caused by a hysterical scene with King Alexander. There is no reliable information on the subject here, but it is generally believed that a serious crisis exists in Belgrade.

Vienna, Nov. 21.—The Serbian delegation here have received no news of the reported attempt to assassinate Queen Draga.

King Drew Funds
Buda Pesth, Nov. 21.—One reason for the popular feeling against the king and queen of Bulgaria came to light today. It seems the king drew two million francs from the public funds without parliamentary authority. Since then the placards were posted in Belgrade reading "Down with royalty, frauds who grind taxes from the peasant to spend in Paris gambling halls." Since then the ant-dynasty feeling is growing.

FINAL TERMS SENT TO THE BRIGANDS

Consul Dickinson Has Given Bandits
Six Days in Which to Accept a Specified Ransom.

Sofia, Nov. 21.—Consul General Dickinson, according to the Vorena Posta, whose editor was a member of the former Macedonian committee has sent an ultimatum to the brigands giving them six days to accept a specified sum as the ransom for Miss Stone. If this amount is not accepted within the time mentioned Mr. Dickinson's offer will be withdrawn.

The latest intelligence received here sets forth that the brigands are holding out for a high ransom and it is asserted they are able to keep their captives as long as this may be necessary.

The foreign office here resents the insinuation the government is acting in bad faith, and in explaining its attitude towards Consul General Dickinson affirms its entire readiness to take any action suggested by him.

SEND FLEET INTO THE DARDANELLES

Vienna, Nov. 21.—The Tageblatt today prints a Constantinople telegram which states that the government at Washington has asked the Porte's permission to send an American fleet through the Dardanelles with the presumable object of demonstrating against the Bulgarians on account of the continued captivity of Miss Stone. The Tageblatt thinks the sultan will refuse the permission asked.

PRINCE CONSORT IS VERY JEALOUS

Antwerp, Nov. 21.—The Nieuwe Gazet says that the queen's illness is due to a serious quarrel with the Prince Consort. The public in general believes the story. The paper says the Prince Consort is jealous and acts in a cold severe manner toward the queen. Wilhelmnia has inherited the Orange obstinacy and will not submit to her consort's actions.

CATCHES A TURNIP HURLED FROM TOP OF A CHICAGO SKY SCRAPER

Receives Vegetable on Carving Fork Held in Teeth—
Johan Bedini Upsets Laws of Gravitation,
Though His Lips Bleed from the Shock.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Johan Bedini, of London, England, holding an ordinary carving fork in his mouth, caught a turnip hurled from the summit of the Masonic temple yesterday, impaling the vegetable squarely upon the tines of the fork, and thereby upsetting all the old ideas of gravitation and the force of falling bodies. An immense crowd watched the feat, which took place at 12:45 o'clock on the State street side of the building. Cars were blocked and a squad of police worked hard to keep back the people. Bedini, a tall, well-knit Londoner, 27 years old, stood watching the building without the least sign of nervousness, while his official turnip hurler, Arthur Shaw, was going up an elevator shaft. Shaw poked his head out of the tiny window under the highest angle of the roof, at the southwest corner of the building. The crowd cheered and brick betting was begun as to Bedini's chance of further existence after the turnip should encounter his face. Bedini donned a head dress like that of a carnival king, with a spike on top, and then put the fork, a wooden-handled affair about a foot long, between his teeth. Then he sauntered calmly up under the lee of the building. First Turnip Goes Wild
The first turnip wrapped in white yarn to keep it from going to pieces, came rushing down and the wind veered it from its course. Bedini rushed

Resume Dis De Bar Trial
London, Nov. 21.—The trial of Theodore Jackson and Dis De Bar was resumed this morning. Detectives who searched the prisoners' trunks testified that they found papers in which the woman claimed the titles of countess, baroness, and princess and other papers relating to the Koresha sect founded in America by Cyrus Ted. The sect is evidently identical with the theocrats which the prisoners claimed to be with.

MEMORIAL FUND IS GROWING RAPIDLY

People of Wisconsin Are Likely to Give $25,000 for the McKinley
Monument at Canton.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 21.—Encouraging reports in regard to the McKinley memorial fund are being received from all over the state by Henry C. Payne, who is now hopeful that at least $25,000 will be contributed in Wisconsin for the proposed monument and word was received from St. Croix county yesterday that it is the intention to raise $500 for the fund there and those in charge of the work at Racine reported a considerable sum had already been received there. The high esteem in which President McKinley was held by Canadians, as well as by Americans, was shown yesterday by the fact that on a subscription list received from Lindsay Bros., accompanied by a check for $33.25, there were three contributions from Winnipeg Manitoba. Another thing which pleased Mr. Payne was a visit he received from a little girl, who came to bring twelve pennies as her contribution to the fund.

Hunter Near Antigo, Wis., Finds Ant-mials with Horns Tightly In-terlocked.

Antigo, Wis., Nov. 21.—While Mat Wahlleitner of the town of "Elton," twenty-five miles east of Antigo, was hunting yesterday, he came upon two large six-year old deer with horns interlocked around a five-inch sapling, where they were made fast. The deer were utterly exhausted, having apparently been fast for a couple of days. The horns were so tightly locked together that two men, could not pull them apart.

SEVEN BURNED IN SANTA FE WRECK; THREE ENGINES CRASH TOGETHER

Fourteen Employees and Many Passengers Hurt—
Dead and Dying in the Debris.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 21.—A fatal wreck occurred on the Santa Fe railroad, one mile west of Francisco, Arl., at 5:15 o'clock yesterday morning. Seven trainmen were killed and three passengers and fourteen trainmen were injured. Limited trains bound east and west respectively collided while running at full speed. Train No. 4 was drawn by two engines, while the west-bound train had but one locomotive.

The three engines were blown to pieces by an explosion which followed the collision. Both trains were made up of vestibuled cars of the heaviest and most improved patterns, and while they stood the terrific shock well and protected the passengers to a great extent several of the cars took fire and were burned up. The dining cars, one Pullman and two composite cars were destroyed.

THIRTY DEAD IN A COAL MINE

Flames at Tunnel's Mouth
Imperil at Least 200
More Lives.

FOUND 17 BODIES

Entrapped Underground, Colorado Miners Battle Against Flame and Smoke.

MEN ARE SUFFOCATED

Telluride, Colo., Nov. 21.—By a fire in the Bullion tunnel, belonging to the Smuggler-Union Mining company, probably thirty lives were lost yesterday. Twenty-one bodies have been recovered.

The fire, which is known to be accidental, started yesterday in the buildings at the mouth of the tunnel. At this point is located the upper terminal of the tramway to the company's new mill at Pandora, and it was in the bunkhouse attached that the fire first started. From this it spread to the terminal station, which, with its ore bins and machinery is a mass of ruins.

Tunnel acted as a flue.
The day shift of 200 men had entered the mine and reached their stations when the fire broke out. The tunnel acted as a flue, and a great volume of smoke poured in and filled the slopes.

About 170 of the men succeeded in reaching safety by another exit. The fire rapidly burned itself out, but the mine was so filled with smoke that it was six hours before rescuing parties could penetrate the slopes where the less fortunate were.

At 1 o'clock the first body was recovered, and at 6:30 seventeen dead had been removed from the mine. The engineer, Hugh J. O'Neill was found alive, but it is not expected that he will recover. No list of the dead is yet obtainable.

It was 1 o'clock before the first body was taken out, and at 8 o'clock twenty-two bodies had been recovered. These have been identified as follows:

Identified Dead
August Jaanta, Allan Henderson, Christopher Makl, Torenator Knoa, the shift boss; William Warfield, John Peterson, William Jones, William Graham, Frank Jindra, Mart Jindra, Gus Sundberg, Obita Rehatta, Anton Anet, John Glisson, Lewis Beglin, E. Darlstrom, Joe Nelson, John Anhoe, Mark Stark, Alex. Solomon, Sorey Barkley, time boss; James Sunstrom. Every physician in Telluride was summoned to the mine. They were kept busy attending to those of the rescuers who were overcome with gas. Seventeen of the twenty-two bodies recovered were found on the seventh level. Between seventy-five and ninety men were working on the ninth level, and this has not been yet explored.

On account of the smoke and gas these levels could not be entered until twelve hours after the flames started because of the danger of suffocation.

BOERS HOPE END OF WAR IS IN SIGHT

Amsterdam, Nov. 21.—It is stated on good authority that the Boers expect something definite to occur within a month which will tend to bring to a termination the war in their favor. The nature of the expected event cannot be learned. The report that Krueger is too feeble to be moved from Hilversum is untrue.

CHICAGO TEACHERS SCORE A POINT

Board of Equalization Raises the Taxation Rate on Many of the Corporations.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 21.—In the report made to the committee in the state board of equalization the stocks and bonds of the Chicago City Railway company, Chicago Telephone company, People's Gas Light and Coke company, Chicago Edison company and South Chicago Railway company are placed at $39,137,335 as compared with $39,137,335 last year. This is a victory for the Chicago Teachers' association, the total added taxable values being $77,745,180.

Last year the net assessment of stock and franchises of these companies in excess of the equalized value of the tangible property was $1,700,000. The report today fixes the amount as $17,337,010. This makes a net difference of $15,637,010, upon which the county clerk of Cook county will extend back taxes for 1900. These figures do not take into account the traction companies.

OFFICIAL REPORT ON RAILWAY LABOR

Railroad Employees in the United States
Constitute an Army of Over 1,000,000.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—The industrial commission has issued a report on railway labor in the United States. It shows that railway employees in this country constitute an army of nearly 1,000,000, with probably nearly 5,000,000 dependent upon the wages paid by the railroads.

The report says that for years to come the railroads will absorb an increasing number of employees. The majority of the roads, the report says, are developing a system of discipline by which they avoid suspensions and encourage loyal personal service, and thus promote better relations between employer and employee.

A general tendency manifest on the part of the roads to exercise greater care in the maintenance of their labor force and its improvement is noted. The report urges some legislative limitation of the fellow-servant principle of doctrine of common employment.

A BRAKEMAN HAS A RACE FOR LIFE

With Hand Caught in the Coupling He Runs Between Moving Cars on a Freight Train.

Philadelphia, Penn., Nov. 21.—Joseph E. Howard of Bridgeport, Montgomery county, a brakeman on the Reading railway, while at work coupling cars at West Manayunk, got his hand caught in the patent coupler. He could not release himself and the train began to back. Howard was forced to run between the cars until Pencoyd, a mile away, was reached, and the cars stopped. Then he walked to St. Timothy's hospital, nearly two miles, and had three fingers amputated without taking an anesthetic.

When his hand was caught Howard involuntarily threw up his left arm in pain. The engineer thought it was the signal to go ahead, and he started the engine. After the first shock Howard said he felt no pain in the crushed hand for a few seconds, but when the cars began to move he tried to pull his hand away and could not. He could not reach the step on the car, and was forced to run until the train stopped.

Of this sum $500 was paid the attorneys who defended him; $1,000 was paid the alienists who examined him; $144 was paid the deputies who guarded him; $36 was paid for pictures taken; and there is a bill of $119.50 for the transportation of Czolgosz and his guards to Auburn. This bill, it is expected, the state will pay.

life was saved but she is prostrated from the effects of the scare. Efforts are under way to effect a reconciliation.

Older Than the King.
Berlin, Nov. 21.—Reports have reached this city that Queen Draga, the wife of King Alexander of Serbia, has been assassinated on the streets of Vienna.

The Neue Freie Presse and other Vienna papers publish various rumors, one declaring that the Serbian queen was assassinated, another that she committed suicide. Reports from other sources deny the statement that

King Alexander
Queen Draga was killed and assert that the rumor of her death was caused by a hysterical scene with King Alexander.

Queen Draga was formerly a lady in waiting at the court of Carmen Sylva, ex-queen of Rumania. She is at least twenty years older than the king, who married her in opposition to the wishes of his court and ministers.

Reciprocity Convention Stands by Protection Principle and Favors a Commission to Investigate.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Reciprocity products. Therefore be it.
That will hurt no home interest, maintenance of the principle of protection and a reciprocity commission to investigate the whole subject is the declaration of the manufacturers' convention now sitting in this city. The following resolution was adopted last evening by the delegates:
"Whereas, The growth of manufacturers in the United States, represented in values and in round numbers, has been as follows: 1850, $1,000,000,000 and in 1900, $15,000,000,000. Whereas, These figures exhibit at the same time (1) a splendid result of the past industrial policies of our government, and (2) a growing need for the development of larger markets in foreign countries.
"Whereas, It would seem desirable not only to maintain policies under which such splendid results have been accomplished, but also devise means to develop increased manufacturing

The Tobacco Market

The attention of the tobacco market during the last week has been directed toward the old goods in the warehouses and quite a number of sales have been made.

Eastern buyers have been in the market and have picked up a large number of cases of '99 and 1900 goods. There is no doubt about the demand for Wisconsin in the eastern markets at good prices.

Dealers who have any old goods left are now realizing the value of holding until the present time. A majority of the 1900 crop is in the hands of large eastern firms who practically control the market.

A. N. Jones has sold 600 cases of his 1900 packing to Chicago parties and is shipping the goods today. F. S. Baines has bought 700 cases of the O'Brien packing of 1900 goods.

A. L. Fisher has sold 250 cases of 1900 to Chicago parties. S. B. Hodges has sold to J. M. Thayer, for Young & Newman of Philadelphia, 150 cases of '99 and quite a number of smaller sales have been made.

Eugene Vallens and A. Cohn of New York, have been in the market during the last week looking for Cigars and John H. Fendrich, who has one of the largest cigar factories in Indiana, at Evansville, has been here buying stock. According to a letter received yesterday by a dealer in this city from his New York house the market is very quiet outside the demand for Wisconsin.

As yet not much of the 1901 crop has been bought. The American Tobacco Company has had four buyers to work in Columbia county where they have purchased a number of 1901 crops at an average price of about eight cents. It is getting along toward the time when the dealers can tell something about what his season's crop will be like. The crop should be well cured by this time and it only needs a little soft weather to get it in shape to handle, and show what the quality is. So far the dealers in this section have bought very little of this crop.

S. B. Heddies has purchased the L. Bamberger building just south of his brick warehouse and has coated it with iron and will remodel it and make a first class storage house of it. E. W. Calkins has purchased the Sutter Bros' warehouse near the St. Paul passenger station and will occupy it this season.

The market the past week did not distinguish itself by any extraordinary activity. A quiet routine business was done, the jobbing trade participating in it perhaps to a greater extent than packers and importers. That the jobbing trade is fairly active proves that the smaller and middle-sized factories are plodding along successfully. The general trade, would perhaps be more active if the market had to offer in sufficient quantities what is in demand and at more suitable prices. But the stock being limited, holders naturally hang on to it for an advance, which they are bound to get. About 1500 cases of all types were disposed of.

The Sumatra market is holding its own satisfactorily. Factories being short of wrappers they have had to take recourse to the Sumatra whether they wish to or not. Sumatra therefore is selling freely. This year's importations seem to meet both in price and looks the general demand. Sales for the week about 350 bales.

Quite an improvement is noticeable in the Havana market and particularly in the increased demand for Remedios. The cheapening of the cigar by eliminating entirely the Havana from it does not seem to meet with the favor anticipated. The consumer prefers rather to pay 5 cents straight for a cigar with a little Havana in it than to get seven or eight for a quarter without any. Besides there is no expectation that the new Remedios will be in a condition to be worked for many months to come. Hence some skirmishing has been going on to lay in a sufficient supply of Remedios. Prices are still rather low but they are stiffening. Sales for the week about 2,000 bales. Factory vegas have, of course, a steady sale.—U. S. Tobacco Journal.

The business in tobacco in the Onondaga, N. Y., district, is still practically confined to the 1900 crop, and the increasing scarcity of this leaf remaining in farmers' hands renders much riding necessary and sales not over frequent. In all, about 125 cases represent the total of verifield sales, although it is probable that many unreported small lots have been picked up by buyers. Elias Bach &

Son of New York City, through Albert Cahn, seem to have secured the most during the week, their purchases aggregating about 100 cases. The 1901 crop is still considerable of a puzzle, most farmers insisting that the leaf is both excellent and beautiful, while buyers remain rather skeptical. It is admitted in some growing sections that this year's leaf is somewhat irregular in color, streaking being especially noticeable, but it is claimed that otherwise the crop is all right. This uncertainty is reflected in the small number of sales less than thirty acres having been purchased at prices ranging from 6 to 9 cents in the bundle.

Until damp weather comes there will be absolutely nothing doing in tobacco in the Connecticut valley. No leaf will be taken down and stripped until old General Humidity appears, and his advent is eagerly awaited. When the proper time comes the season promises to be one of unusual activity, the crop being roughly estimated at 2,500 carloads more than last year, when the acreage was considerably less. Buyers are as anxious as farmers for work to begin, as the extent of the pole sweat can be approximately determined and a basis of value arrived at. The 1900 crop is practically exhausted, the little remaining being eagerly sought at much higher prices than were obtainable last year. In this year's leaf there have been virtually no sales of any considerable amount, although a few scattering transactions have been reported at prices varying all the way from 12 to 20 cents in the bundle.

Word comes from Chicago that Messrs. Schroeder & Argumbeau have sold out their entire packing of 1900 leaf put up by Mr. George Underhill of Edgerton, in this state, the last 1,000 cases going to the well known Hileon Co., manufacturers of fine cigars, at a good stiff price. The goods were carefully selected when purchased by Mr. Underhill and hence found a ready sale at figures that were alike satisfactory to the firm and their Wisconsin representative.

Leaf jobbers of Milwaukee are divided in their expressions regarding business during the week, some reporting a poor business, while others have taken some very good orders, although most of the large ones are for delivery Jan. 1. All in all, business is not and has not been what was expected in the early fall, and jobbers are far from satisfied. The exceptionally high prices of some grades of tobacco seems to be the thorn in the side. C. J. Reichert of Reichert & La Boute, returned from a trip through the leaf belt of Wisconsin, and he says that farmers are holding tobacco inconsistently high, and some of their stock is exceedingly poor. The excessive bidding by the American Cigar Co., during the harvest season seems to have given the farmers a large amount of expectancy. Collections are exceedingly quiet.

The Lancaster, Pa., New Era, says it is in a position to give its readers a very fair idea of what has been done during the season by the government in that locality, in its experiments with Cuban seed, grown for filler purposes, under the direction of Mr. Massey. The seed was of the Vuelta Abajo variety, the best of all the Cuban kinds and came direct from Cuba. In all eight acres were set out in four plots of two acres each in different sections of the county, namely: On land of E. K. Hershey, in Manor township; on land of L. N. Greider, at Mt. Joy; on land of L. N. Reist, in Manheim township; and on the farm of J. F. Root at Landisville. The land was cultivated as Pennsylvania tobacco generally is, but planted twelve inches apart, in rows that were three and three and one-half feet apart. Some of the tobacco grew to a height of eight feet, but the average was about four and a half or five feet, with eighteen leaves to the stock. The greatest yield is estimated at 1,500 pounds to the acre, but not all will go that high.

The leaf tobacco trade in St. Louis continues very brisk and a very large amount of stock is daily changing hands. The demand for binders is in the lead, closely followed by the fine grades of Connecticut Havana seed wrappers. The way 1899 crop Zimmer Spanish is being picked up indicates that the market will soon be bare of this tobacco. First shipments of 1900 Zimmer Spanish have been put on sale here, and the tobacco is favorably spoken of by many purchasers. There is a normal demand for Sumatra and Havana with buyers looking for lighter grades of the former than the market affords.

A Village Blacksmith Saved His Little Son's Life.

Mr. H. H. Black, the well known village blacksmith at Grahamsville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five years old, has always been subject to croup, and so had have the attacks been that we feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms appear we have found that the dreaded croup is cured before it gets settled." There is no danger in giving this remedy, for it contains no opium, or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by People's Drug Company and King's Pharmacy.

CAUSE OF DEAFNESS

The Most Common Cause Only Recently Discovered

It has been stated on good medical authority that nine-tenths of the cases of deafness are caused from catarrh or from sore throat trouble.

The little tube which leads to the ear from the throat is lined with a sort of velvety structure called the mucous membrane. This membrane is simply a continuation of the mucous membrane lining the throat. When disease of any sort attacks the mucous membrane of the throat it is very liable to extend into the Eustachian tube and up into the ear.

The history of nearly all cases of deafness is like this: A cold is contracted and neglected, other colds are taken, the throat becomes sore and inflamed, which is aggravated by particles of dust and germs from the air. This condition causes the disease to spread into the tube that leads to the ear.

It seems a little far fetched to say that most cases of deafness are caused from catarrh, but it is certainly true, and anyone who has had a severe catarrhal cold must have noticed how the hearing was affected while the cold lasted.

With catarrh sufferers this impairment of hearing becomes chronic and grows worse the longer the catarrh is neglected.

You can cure catarrh and deafness by the regular use of an excellent new preparation called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, composed of antiseptic remedies which act both on the mucous membranes but principally and most effectively on the blood, eliminating the catarrhal poison from the system.

People whose hearing is defective may think it a little remarkable that a simple and harmless tablet would very often remove all traces of deafness, but when it is remembered that catarrh causes the deafness and that the catarrh is easily cured by the regular use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets there is no mystery about it.

If you are subject to nasal catarrh or catarrh of throat, bronchial tubes or catarrh of stomach and liver, the safest and most effective treatment is the new catarrh specific, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, sold by all druggists at 50 cents for full sized package.

Wisconsin Pharmaceutical Co.

The Wisconsin Pharmaceutical company a corporation composed of several hundred Wisconsin druggists, closed its fourth year yesterday. The company manufacturers medicines for the drug trade and has been very successful since its organization. E. B. Holmstrom, who has been the secretary since it started was again re-elected. Prizes were offered last year to all the drug clerks of the state for selling the most goods. The first prize, $10 in gold, was awarded to E. M. Kay, the second prize, $5 in gold to Robert Getts. Both are clerks for E. B. Holmstrom of this city.

INDIGESTION.

Perfect digestion means pure blood. Pure blood means a clear complexion, a bright eye and a clear step. Indigestion is always the result of negligence. To fail to assist nature in remedying a defective system and to bring about harmony in the natural functions of the body, is worse than any crime against nature and self. Overcrowding the stomach, or eating food difficult of assimilation is one of the main causes of indigestion. Indigestion is known by yellow, scaly or pimply skin; dull and listless eyes; disordered taste, with coated tongue; fretful disposition and ill-temper. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and Herb Laxative Compound gives instant relief, and is a complete cure for all forms of stomach troubles, dyspepsia, biliousness and constipation, sick headache, nervousness, rheumatism and malaria. Sold by all druggists in 50 cent and $1.00 bottles, but never in bulk. We will be glad to send you a trial bottle and a very interesting little booklet on stomach troubles, if you will mention your symptoms. Pepsin Syrup Company, Monticello, Ill.

A Great Medicine.

"I have used Chamberlain's colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and find it to be a great medicine," says Mr. E. S. Phipps, of Poteau, Ok. "It cured me of bloody flux, I cannot speak too highly of it." This remedy always wins the good opinion, if not the praise of those who use it. The quick cures which it effects even in the most severe cases make it a favorite everywhere. 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF WEDDING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Rissman Surprised by Their Friends—Two Weddings—Social and Personal.

Last evening at the home of their son-in-law, Joseph Kaiser, No. 3, Hyatt street, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Rissman, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Adolph Rissman and Henrietta Geisler were united in marriage at Havannah, Germany, fifty years ago last evening.

In honor of the event a surprise was arranged for the couple at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kaiser. The rooms were decorated with evergreen and yellow and white chrysanthemums and presented a handsome appearance.

The old couple entered into the spirit of the occasion although they are well advanced in years. They wore the same clothes that they were married in and the bride wore a necklace set with garnets that she wore on the evening of her marriage.

A bounteous supper was served which did credit to both the host and hostess both in quantity and quality, and was enjoyed by all of the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Rissman came to Wisconsin 32 years ago from Germany and settled at Watertown and remained there for ten years. They then moved to Farmington and thirteen years ago moved to this city where they have since resided. They have six children, the boys being August, Richard and Adolph Rissman and the daughters Mesdames Jos. Kaiser, L. S. Seigel and Herman W. Hilker.

The old couple were the recipients of a number of valuable gifts among them being a $10 and $5 gold piece, a bronze candelabra, gold berry spoon, bronze smokers' set, gold rimmed spectacles, German stool, a gold trimmed tea set and a set of gold trimmed cups and saucers.

From outside the city there were present at the gathering Mr. and Mrs. Gus. Rissman, Farmington; Mr. and Mrs. Reinhold Baese, Johnson Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rissman and Mrs. Emma Seigel, Wauwatosa; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hilker, Clinton; Edmund Flaud, Mrs. Minnie Flaud, Mr. Gust Rabbach, Watertown.

The afternoon and evening were pleasantly spent in many social ways and the gathering was a success in every way. The guests one and all wished Mr. and Mrs. Rissman many more happy wedding days.

Gosselin-Winkley Wedding

At 8 o'clock last evening the Rev. A. H. Barrington, of Christ Church performed the ceremony that united Frank Gosselin and Miss Mae Winkley as man and wife. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents on Milton avenue in the presence of a number of relatives and immediate friends. A tempting wedding supper was served after the ceremony and enjoyed by all.

Both of the young people are well-known in this city and have scores of friends who extend their congratulations and wish them a happy married life. Mr. and Mrs. Gosselin will go at once to housekeeping at their newly furnished home at 270 Prospect avenue. When they arrived there last night they found their friends had been there ahead of them and left numerous tokens of their visit to remind the young couple that they were just married.

Carroll-Heffron Wedding

Mr. Harry Carroll and Miss Julia Hefron, two well known Janesville young people were united in marriage last evening at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. Dean E. McGinnity. The young couple were attended by Daniel Conley and Rose Hefron, after the ceremony had been performed the party returned to the home of the bride's parents, 551 Western avenue where an elaborate wedding supper was served to about 150 guests, who had assembled to congratulate the happy couple. Both of the young people are well-known and have many friends in this city who will wish them joy. They left on the 4:30 train this morning for Chicago for a brief wedding trip. They will be at home to their friends after December 1 at 119 West Milwaukee street, second floor.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cure biliousness, constipation and headache. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by People's Drug Co. and King's Pharmacy.

The Small of the Back

That is where some people feel weak all the time.

They are likely to be despondent and it is not unusual to find them borrowing trouble as if they hadn't enough already.

The fact is their kidneys are weak, either naturally or because of sickness, exposure, worry or other influences.

"I am thankful to say," writes J. L. Campbell, of Sycamore, Ill., "that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me. For many years I was troubled with backache. At times I was so bad I had to be helped from the bed or chair. I am now well and strong and free from pain." What this great medicine did for him it has done for others.

ASKS TO SHIFT IN FOOTBALL GAMES

Badgers Are Anxious to Play Michigan, and Want Hawkeyes to Meet the Maroons

Iowa City, Iowa, Nov. 21.—The University of Wisconsin football management wants the University of Iowa football team to lend a helping hand in settling the western football championship. A letter has been received here by Manager McCutcheon asking him to consent to a change in the original schedule of Thanksgiving day games in Chicago. The proposition is to switch the games so as to permit Wisconsin and Michigan to meet at the West Side ball park and let Iowa and Chicago fight it out for consolation honors on Marshall field. The proposition is considered bold, and there are few here who believe it can be carried out, but the advances made by Wisconsin show that wires are being laid and that Wisconsin has secured Michigan's consent to the arrangement. Without Michigan's consent it is considered that it would be folly for the badger management to make any propositions whatever.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 21.—The proposition to transpose the Thanksgiving day games in Chicago and have Wisconsin play Michigan and Chicago play Iowa is not received with much favor here by either Coach Kling or Manager Kilpatrick. They do not think it would suit either of the four universities, and believe Chicago especially would be opposed to it.

KILLED AND HURT IN WRECK.

Stockmen from Iowa Meet Serious Accident on Way to Chicago.

Sterling, Ill., Nov. 21.—One man was killed and twelve injured in a wreck on the Burlington road between Deer Grove and Walnut. The victims were stockmen on their way to Chicago. The dead: John J. Resse, wealthy farmer of Erie, Ill.; J. R. Baker, Pleasant View, Iowa; Harry Bunck, Iowa City; F. P. Carl, Bennett, Iowa; Joseph Coleman, Deer Grove, leg and arm broken, badly cut about body; Fred Collins, Tampico, Ill., several ribs broken, severely cut about head; Daniel Donovan, Iowa City, Iowa; G. M. Hunter, internal injuries, serious; F. H. Howson, Clinton, Iowa, severely cut about head; Benjamin D. Hughes, Iowa City; D. C. Robinson, Erie; A. W. Staley, Solon, Iowa, internal injuries, serious; Charles Swift, Morse, Iowa. The most seriously injured were taken to the hospital at Walnut, where they are being cared for. A train bearing the party, and a large consignment of stock was pulling up a steep grade when it broke in two. The rear car ran down the hill, attaining terrific speed, and crashing into an eastbound train at the foot of the incline. The caboose and several stock cars were demolished, and the debris immediately took fire.

Echoes Stead's Prediction.

Paris, Nov. 21.—Jules Siegfried lectured at the Muse Sociale on his recent tour in America, repeating in extended form the opinions already expressed in a recent interview. M. Siegfried predicted that the present century would see the United States the greatest and most powerful commercial and industrial nation in the world. "If France is wise," he said, she will not delay to take advantage of America's traditional friendship in order to secure the means by a give-and-take policy to get a fair share of this vast, unlimited, and ever-increasing field of commercial enterprise beyond the Atlantic.

One hundred and fifty-eight deaths resulted in Chicago, January to July, inclusive, from appendicitis. The hospital records show that the disease is one of the least understood, but that more recoveries would have resulted if preventives had been used. Take Dr. Crane's Quaker Tonic Tablets, fifty cents, now. The ideal preventive.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Fair, warmer tonight.

THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE

One of the governor's organs is authority for the statement that the will of the governor is the will of the people.

The statement is a conundrum and may be interpreted in two or three ways. There is no question about the governor having a will of his own. His most ardent admirers have discovered this fact and it has been so apparent to men who do not agree with him, that it is not debatable.

There is a faint suspicion also that some people are possessed of the same inheritance. It is possible under favorable conditions and careful manipulation to get together a class of people, whose will is a negative quantity, and when this is done, the will of one man becomes the will of a little band of followers.

This experiment was tried and results demonstrated in the legislature last winter, and it was no fault of the manipulators that the will of the people there represented, was not unanimously the will of the governor.

The proposed tour of the chief executive is doubtless to determine whether the will of the people at large can be controlled by a simple will. A large undertaking that is likely to prove disappointing.

There was a time back in the centuries when a nation wandered around in the wilderness for forty years, they were under the leadership of a man in whom they had confidence, and the leader was in communication with Deity. When the leader commanded, they obeyed, because they recognized in the voice of Moses, the voice of God. The will of Moses, was the will of the people, because they both honored and feared him. He thought and acted for them, and they followed with meek submission. But that was in the wilderness, long before the dawn of civilization, and not in Wisconsin at the opening of the twentieth century. It was a wise and necessary arrangement at the time, and Moses was never accused of sublime egotism as a leader.

He had many imitators in all ages, but when the mass is removed it is always discovered that they were not inspired, or if they were, personal ambition was the motive power.

Wisconsin now has a Moses for a leader, whose will is the will of the people, if the people will be led blindly. There is trouble in the camp, and the flock is badly demoralized. There appears to be too many goats for peace and comfort and they are a class of goats who have enjoyed independence of thought and action so long that they don't take very kindly to dictators or theoretical leaders.

The governor's tour will doubtless reduce the number and the capitol park will need enlarging to accommodate the docile flock that will rally to the standard of the new Moses, during the heated term next summer.

AN OLD RELIC

The Gazette is indebted to H. J. Cowles for an old copy of the New York Herald bearing the date of Oct. 18, 1817. The paper is quaint in every particular.

It contains among other interesting matter a protest from a subscriber at Old Point Sable, to a memorial that was about to be presented to congress, asking for a duty on pig iron, that would enable American producers to compete with other nations for the home trade. The writer used the time worn arguments that are heard so frequently now, that protection was in the interest of classes, and burdensome to the masses.

So it appears that the tariff question is by no means new.

The writer claimed that the luxury should be taxed to the limit but pig iron was a necessity and should come in duty free.

If the old gentleman was on earth today, he would be surprised, to say the least, to see what protection has done for the iron industry.

The paper registers a complaint against cigar smoking on the street, and says that Boston imposes a fine of $5.00 for the offense. Boston is still virtuous, but New York is a smoker of pronounced type.

The paper has no display advertising but contains a three column wholesale price current prepared by Day & Turner. Beef is quoted at $9.50, wheat at $2.00, rails 8 to 12c, wool 50c to $1.00, tea $1.00 to $1.75, coffee 20 to 25c, old rye whiskey 63c.

Twenty dollars reward is offered by a man in New Jersey for the return of his Negro man Tom who was noted for being a good talker when drunk. The foreign news is from six to eight weeks old.

The paper is a strong reminder of the progress of the age and indicates by comparison what the nineteenth century accomplished.

LUMBER AND POLITICS

"George Bishop, the Rhinelander ex-member of the board of order, who has his clothes made to order, has begun pounding away in his paper for the Stalwart cause. George told his friends he left he board "to go into the lumber business." Those of his friends who had known him but a short time embarrassed him by wanting to know more about it.—Madison Journal.

George is a trimmer. After doing all the dirty work for the governor in the way of removing Stalwarts from office, and filling the places with the governor's admirers, he quietly folded his tent and stole away to the pine woods of northern Wisconsin. Now he comes out of retirement as a full-fledged stalwart. He will be on the loaded wagon if his clothes hold out.

A PROMOTION

It is now understood that Col. Jerre C. Murphy, the private secretary, who acted as governor of Wisconsin with such remarkable skill and assiduity during the summer and harvest just passed and gone, has been promoted to the office of editor of the Marquette Star, a daily paper devoted to Stephensonianism and the discovery of new stars in the milky way, a subject of great importance to the dairymen along the shores of Green Bay and Long Tail Point.

The press of Wisconsin will rejoice with exceeding great joy at his promotion, especially if the salary is three thousand a year, coupled with the earnest hope that the late acting governor, etc., etc., will not change his politics before the dawn of another year, or the filing of a new revised and improved Stevens bill warranted not to kick when discharged.—Appleton Crescent.

COMMENDABLE AMBITION

The Gazette is in receipt of the following letter from the office of the "Commoner." Readers of the paper will be pleased to know that Mr. Bryan is still ambitious.

Lincoln, Neb., No. 18, 1901.
 The Gazette, Janesville, Wis.
 Gentlemen:—Your letter of the 14th inst. addressed to Mr. Bryan is received. We are requested by Mr. Bryan to say that he is pleased to place The Gazette on our mailing list in return from a similar favor from you and trust you may be able to imbibe enough good democratic doctrine from its columns to see the error of your ways. With best wishes, we remain, Yours very truly,
 THE COMMONER.
 By Geo. G. Walte, Circulation Dept.

It is interesting to know that a man can hire an engine and a passenger coach for about $50 per day, and have a couple of cars thrown in for ballast, and yet Mr. Strange, who made the contract for the campaign train, seemed able to do this. Mr. Strange is evidently a good contractor. If he will open an office in the southern part of the state, and engage the train for a year he can ballast with coal and make a fortune by daily excursions to Chicago at reduced rates. There's millions in it.

The Oshkosh Northwestern, one of the best newspapers in the state, is having a little fun at the expense of its local rival, "The Times." The latter claimed a circulation in excess of the Northwestern, but declined to submit to investigation to verify the figures. This is always recognized as an element of weakness among newspaper men, and is a victory for the Northwestern, which occupies the local field so thoroughly that its statements are never questioned.

The railroad combine between the Great Northern and Canadian Pacific, is causing governor Van Sant of Minnesota a great deal of unnecessary trouble. The statutes of most of the states are loaded with inoperative anti-trust laws. Like prohibitory laws they prohibit, but don't prevent, simply because they are impractical and so far in advance of public sentiment that they lack moral support.

The American people want a chance to shake hands with Admiral Schley, and if he decides to make a tour of the country, he will be treated to an ovation, that will warm his heart, and satisfy him that he has a host of friends, who have confidence in him. Public sentiment has always been with him, and was never stronger in his favor than it is today.

Mayor Harrison, of Chicago, is attacked with a spasm of virtue, and is now advocating city ownership of public utilities. If his hobby succeeds Chicago corporations will be looking for a more congenial climate.

The Gatham gun, for which the government appropriated $50,000 proves to be a failure. Had it been a success the navy would have required a better equipment.

PRESS COMMENT.

Evening Wisconsin: The enthusiastic celebrants who fed a bonfire at Brooklyn with clapboards taken from a house which now looks like the skeleton of a prehistoric politician, went only a little farther than the "rooters" at Madison who on Saturday evening burned sidewalks and fences in making the town lurid.

Milwaukee Sentinel: The formation of a new labor party would put Mr. Bryan and his party in fourth place, but he would be just as close to office there as he has been in past campaigns.

Milwaukee Journal: The cutting of the state board of immigration on the ground of expense and the sending of a special agent to Washington at $2,000 per year and expenses to watch the progress of the swamp land bill, are two economies that the governor might use as the text for an exhaustive address.

Minneapolis Times: A Milwaukee constable has put in a bill for 8,000 miles of official travel during the short month of February. A man who can average nearly 300 miles a day by horse and buggy, street car and on foot is too strenuous for the constabulary. He should be over in Samar pursuing the elusive and treacherous native.

Green Bay Gazette: It now develops that Mr. Bryan distributed 75,000 copies of the Commoner for the Ohio campaign. There is little wonder that the state returned a substantial republican majority. Possibly the republicans themselves secured the papers for distribution.

Appleton Post: The hunters in the northern woods are having more luck shooting each other than shooting deer. So far, ten of them have been killed and fourteen more or less seriously wounded. This percentage of casualties is far greater than was sustained by the Americans during the Spanish war.

Racine Journal: Wisconsin has some populists who indulge in suppositions that republican protectionist newspapers are smothering true reformers. Let these people do business as real populists, not as republicans.

La Crosse Republican and Leader: While Kitchener is busy writing regrets, the Boers keep right along marching on Cape Town. The last reports located them forty-eight miles from the metropolis.

The silent woods are bronze and gold.
On banks of haze they beam.
No wild rose flutters in the wind;
No lily decks the stream.
Upon the hill
The wind is still.
'Tis like a tide of sleep,
Though softly swells
The sound of bells
As homeward come the sheep,
And while this magic holds full sway
I know it is Thanksgiving day.

Within the air is full of cheer
And joy is on each face.
Although the year is growing sore
'Tis full of springlike grace.
The festive quip
Is on each lip,
The moments take swift flight,
And on the dogs
The mossy legs
Are crackling brisk and bright
A melody which seems to say
Most merrily, "Thanksgiving day!"

Without we wander on the hill
In spirit light and free.
I miss no lily from the rill;
'Tis like the spring to me.
Within I dream
In peace supreme,
Sweet thoughts with me abide.
My dreams to cheer
She lingers near,
An angel at my side,
And deep within my heart is May;
Likewise a true Thanksgiving day.

AN AMERICAN HARVEST HOME

A Thanksgiving Medley by
G. L. Langdon.

[Copyright, 1901, by Hamilton Musk.]
A European peasant is thankful if he can have a fowl in the dinner pot on Sunday. The smallest American farmer can spare a turkey for his flock for Thanksgiving, and that is a rare tribute to the occasion, because turkey is not on his regular bill of fare. Killing time is at hand the last of November, corn is ripe, and turkeys are fat if they haven't been too shiftless to forage for sustenance, and an old gobbler is a good show piece to typify the abundant harvest.

But the turkey is only an episode in the farmer's Thanksgiving spread, only

NATURE'S MASTERPIECE.
A herald of the trooping corn and wine. A pompous, strutting braggart, he sets off the bursting crops admirably. There are lots of good things behind the turkey, and any one not a farmer can find a better treat in the background than he can at the front on the last Thursday of November in any year of our Lord.

For an appetizer a ripe fall apple is far ahead and away ahead of any concoction of the barkeeper. One may regale on Seek No Further and not look farther for a better flavor, but a dinner will be appreciated all the same. Pippins are also light and juicy, but gry man festives a turnip, and one can sometimes envy the English Hodge who was asked what he had for dinner in the field and held up a chunk of black bread for the answer. "Nothing but that?" said his questioner. "Oh, yes; I sometimes eats a raw turnip." Colonel Mulberry Sellers afflicted his auditors with a watery mouth when he laid out a stage feast consisting solely of raw turnips.

And the green hued cabbages stacked like cannon balls, but mountain high encountered on the farmer's field, the cabbage is anything but offensively fragrant. In fact, it is sweetness itself. The cabbage of commerce, with its leaves bruised and wilted, is a poor representative of the noble vegetable as it comes from the field. Like the turnip, it doesn't require a starving man to relish it raw and pronounce it good. Pumpkins and squash will be lying among the stubble at Thanksgiving time, and they lend the glow of life to nature after the other crops have been stripped from the ground. The prize pumpkin has passed through the kitchen on its way to dank the dinner turkey, but its mate is on show in the farmer's porch or possibly in the dining room or parlor. It will be peeled and dried later, and there will be pumpkin pies on the farmer's table after all the turkeys have gone under the ax. In the storeroom, a place sealed to all but the very elect, the good wife has her shelves filled with jars and cans of summer fruit jellies and preserves. These sweetmeats are not to be shown on Thanksgiving day, but their maker and custodian is thankful that they are there, and the rest of the folks will have cause to be before the winter is over. In the cellar are casks of apple juice in varying stages of treatment, and perhaps the elder mill is still leaking from the grinding of pulp which only stopped at noon out of respect to the holiday.

Even the cattle and horses, the swine and fowls on the farm, are thankful when the end of November closes in, although second joints and wishbones have no special charms for them. The horses and oxen know that the season's work is over, and they see the mows and stacks of fodder gathered in for their benefit. The cows may chew their ends contentedly in the stall all winter long and have a rest from the ordeal of milking time. The hens are happy, for they behold food for weeks to come lying around the barnyard and on the thrashing floor and the towering stacks of grain tell them there is more where the last came from, without raiding the fields at the risk of meeting dogs and shotguns.

And in the woods, too, the squirrel laughs a joyous laugh on Thanksgiving day—laughs because his stores of nuts are gathered in, laughs, too, because the farmer's boy is too full of turkey and pumpkin pie to shoot quick or with steady aim. Yes, all nature rejoices in the golden days of autumn. Her labors are ended; her hidden springs are filling with fruitful nectar for another year's work. Thanksgiving would be celebrated anyway, even without proclamations and the conventional turkey and cranberry sauce. It is in the air and in the earth and in the heart of man, be he Christian or heathen, to echo the benediction of the Creator when he looked upon his handiwork and called it "good."

THE RED MAN'S THANKS.

Harvest Invocation of the Tribes of the Six Nations.

The custom of giving thanks to the Deity for abundant harvests and material blessings long antedates the New England Thanksgiving festival. Long before the coming to this continent of our pilgrim ancestors, by whom our Thanksgiving day was first observed, the Indians met in the forests, which were God's first temples, when the harvest moon was full and the corn was ripening and gave thanks to the Great Spirit. The ceremonies were performed with especial solemnity and fervor by the tribes of the Six Nations and is still observed by the remnants of that once powerful confederation. Here is a very nearly literal translation of the invocation used doubtless for centuries on these occasions:

"We who are here present thank the Great Spirit that we are here to praise him.
We thank him for the light which we call our oldest brother, the sun that works for our good.
We thank him for his goodness in making the forests and thank all its trees.

"We thank him for the darkness that gives us rest and for the kind being of the darkness that gives us light—the moon.

"We thank him for the bright spots in the skies that give us dawn—the stars.

"We give him thanks for our supporters who have charge of our harvests.

"We give thanks that the voice of the Great Spirit can still be heard through the words of Ga-ne-o-di-o (by his religion).

"We thank the Great Spirit that we have the privilege of this pleasant occasion.

"Our supporters" referred to above are the mythical guardians of the corn, the bean and the squash, which were the original and still are the principal products of the soil grown by the Indians.

STATE MONEY FOR THE HIGH SCHOOL

This Year the Sum Will Reach $716.20—There Are 222 High Schools in the State.

The Janesville High School will receive towards its support from the state of Wisconsin this year, $466.20 its share of the appropriation made for the 222 free high schools of the state and $250 for the manual training department, making a total of $716.20, state money. Very few schools in the state are entitled to this extra appropriation of $250 which the state gives to the high schools maintaining a manual training department.

The $466.20 is the amount due the Janesville school from the state fund for the free high schools of the state, the apportionment of which has just been completed by State Supt. L. D. Harvey, of Madison. The amount is $15.20 less than the school received last year, when the amount received was $481.40.

This decrease is due to the increase of expenses, as the state appropriates one hundred thousand dollars for its free high schools, from which sum the salary and expenses of the state high school inspector must be deducted before the apportionment to the various schools is made. Of the 222 free high schools in the state the Janesville school is one of the few which are in the first class and receive the highest percentage of the state funds. High schools which have an enrollment of 200 or more students are in this class. The majority of the high schools in the state receive only $250, less their share of the inspector's expenses.

ENDEAVORS WILL BANQUET NOV. 29

Annual Event of the Congregational Society Promises To Be a Great Affair.

The Christian Endeavor of the Congregational church has issued invitations to its members, a few guests from the church membership and the presidents of the other young peoples' societies of the city, for the annual banquet which will be held in the church parlors on Friday evening, Nov. 29, at 6:30 o'clock. This date was chosen because so many of the members who are out of the city on business or attending school will be home for Thanksgiving and the desire is to make the banquet as much of a reunion as possible. It is expected that there will be about two hundred guests. The banquet is one of the happiest social events in the Christian Endeavor year and with the record of many bright successes of past years to inspire them, the young people of the Congregational society have determined that this year's banquet is to be one of the best ever held. The menu arranged for is quite elaborate and will be followed by a bright and interesting program of toasts.

All arrangements for the banquet committee which includes Messrs. Coral Bonesteel, Helen Estes, Alice Estes, Nettie Kent and Edna Rogers and Messrs. Oscar Halverson and Charles Johnson. The work has been divided up between the different members of the committee, since the general arrangements were made, and they have chosen their own assistants and thus Miss Bonesteel has taken charge of the provisions for the supper, Miss Helen Estes of providing the waiters, Miss Alice Estes, of the decorations; Miss Kent of the program of toasts, and Miss Rogers had charge of the invitations.

WAS THE VICTIM OF SERIOUS ACCIDENT

M. Tobin, an employee of the Ford Milling Company, was the victim of a serious accident about 12:30 o'clock last night and is in bad shape as the result of it today. Tobin was loading a car with flour at the mill and was using a truck to take the flour from the mill into the car. He had just wheeled a load into the car and stepped back to get the truck straightened out around and in so doing slipped out of the side of the car.

He fell backwards on the ground striking on the left side of his back across a rail. His shoulder was badly hurt by the fall and one of his ribs broken, the broken parts being forced through the flesh in to his lung causing a severe hemorrhage. He was conveyed at once to his home and Dr. James Gibson called to attend him. One of the worst features about the case is, that everytime he breathes the air taken into his lungs escapes through the opening made by the broken rib, out under his skin, so that today he is swelled up like a puff ball. Everything possible is done to relieve him and he will get along all right as soon as the hole in the lung begins to heal up.

BELOIT BOYS ASK FOR A JURY TRIAL

The case of the state of Wisconsin vs. Ward and Woodruff, the two Beloit young men arrested for holding up a party in that city some time ago was called in the municipal court this morning. HAY AND STRAW GO UP IN FLAMES

Destructive Fire on the Farm of Daniel Gannon, in the Town of Janesville.

Daniel Gannon of the town of Janesville was the victim of a fire last night that destroyed two stacks of hay and one of straw and was only kept from burning his house by hard work on the part of himself and family and some neighbors who had been attracted by the blaze.

Mr. Gannon discovered the fire about 1:30 o'clock this morning, the light of the fire shining into his bed room windows and arousing him from his sleep. All three stacks were burning fiercely when he reached them and looked as if some one had set them on fire, and had started all three at nearly the same time. After a desperate fight he and the neighbors succeeded in keeping the flames away from the buildings. He estimates that about fifteen tons of hay and straw were destroyed. They were covered by insurance but their loss coming just as the winter is setting in is felt more keenly by Mr. Gannon. Tracks were discovered this morning leading away from the burned stacks and Mr. Gannon is satisfied that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

Mr. Gannon discovered the fire about 1:30 o'clock this morning, the light of the fire shining into his bed room windows and arousing him from his sleep. All three stacks were burning fiercely when he reached them and looked as if some one had set them on fire, and had started all three at nearly the same time. After a desperate fight he and the neighbors succeeded in keeping the flames away from the buildings. He estimates that about fifteen tons of hay and straw were destroyed. They were covered by insurance but their loss coming just as the winter is setting in is felt more keenly by Mr. Gannon. Tracks were discovered this morning leading away from the burned stacks and Mr. Gannon is satisfied that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

Some New Books.

Doubleday, Page & Co. are about to issue in special holiday editions Harold McGrath's clever novel "The Arms and the Woman," which is rapidly increasing in popularity, and Frederick Viller's unusual detective story, "The Black Tortoise," which has sold many editions in England and Germany before it was published in America last month. Both books have an attractive cover design. With "The Arms and the Woman," is a warm pen sketch portrait on white vellum, showing Mr. McGrath's German princess to be an exceedingly beautiful woman; while on the cover of "The Black Tortoise" is reproduced the mysterious photograph of a woman upon which rests as unexpected denouncement in this thrilling story by a man who was once a captin in the Norwegian navy.

Doubleday, Page & Co. certainly mean to be pioneers in the matter of book wrappers. It was with this book that a description of the book on the wrapper originated, and now they put forth a new and beautiful wrapper on "A Modern Antaeus," issued this week. It is so elaborate that it would certainly attract attention to a book of less promised popularity than this novel by the author of "An Englishwoman's Love Letters."

Doubleday, Page & Co. in the week of Nov. 16 publish "A Modern Antaeus" by the author of "An Englishwoman's Love Letters," which is bound to revive the puzzling question of the authorship of last year's literary sensation; "The Making of a Country Home," another story of persons who leave the city, by J. P. Mowbray, author of "A Journey to Nature"; "Princess Puck," Una L. Sherrard's new novel, and a new illustration of "Bob, Son of Battle," trated edition of "Bob, Son of Battle," with twenty-four photographs taken from the actual scenes of that delightful story, which is now in its fifty-fifth thousand.

Theodore Roosevelt in the introduction he has written to A. G. Wallihan's forthcoming book, "Camera Shots at Big Game," considers the photography of wild animals as a sport, and lauds the camera shot above the rifle shot. He says: "More and more as it becomes necessary to preserve the game, let us hope that the camera will largely supplant the rifle. It is an excellent thing to have a nation proficient in marksmanship, and it is highly undesirable that the rifle should be wholly laid by. But the shot is, after all, only a small part of the free life of the wilderness. The chief attractions lie in the physical hardihood for which the life calls, the sense of limitless freedom which it brings, and the remoteness and wild charm and beauty of primitive nature. All this we get exactly as much in hunting with the camera as in hunting with the rifle, and of the two the former is the kind of sport that calls for the higher degree of skill, patience, resolution and knowledge of the life history of the animal sought." The mention of Mr. Wallihan's camera shots in particular are as of those of a photographic sportsman of the first order, whose record may never be equalled for the reason that he has been a pioneer in the best game fields in the time of the greatest abundance of wild life. The volume as published this month by Doubleday, Page & Co., will contain fifty of the best photographs selected from the work of ten years past and the reproductions are in elaborate half-tone and photogravure.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

Digests
what you Eat

In speaking of indigestion, Dr. Lewis says: "It is deplorable that so many hundreds of thousands of Americans suffer from indigestion. It means that the blood of the nation is becoming impure; for undigested food poisons the blood. Unless a method is devised for overcoming this malady, our race must deteriorate."

Many persons use soda tablets to neutralize fermenting food; this only makes a chemical receptacle out of the stomach, and injures its sensitive structures. Others feed on pepsin, which is better, but not sufficient, for it digests only albuminous foods.

The preparation best fitted to relieve and absolutely cure indigestion is KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE. It contains every known digestant and digests every kind of food. Its use is a common sense method of treating all stomach troubles, and the results are always certain.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

The dramatic sky having cleared it is discovered that of the new "stars" which were this year launched in the theatrical world, the two which have met with what would appear to be permanent successes are Adelaide Thurston, who is starring in "Sweet Clover" and S. Miller Kent, who is presenting the "Cowboy and the Lady." Miss Thurston has just completed her tour of the South with flying colors, appearing at every point to large and delighted audiences. Mr. Kent is now in the Northwest, where he has won a great and deserved success. Like Miss Thurston his business has been very large. There have been failures; but, "it is best," as De Wolf Hopper used to say when speaking of the old St. George Hotel, of Evansville, Ind., "to talk of pleasant things."

With several of the most popular features of his last season's tour, with many new and novel specialties, with an increased number of excellent vocalists drawn from every part of the world, and with a glittering scenic equipment and a new scheme of style and color in his costly costuming, William H. West is about to lend his big Minstrel Jubilee into the city. Mr. West has always kept faith with the public. He has promised much but he has given more than he promised. He has always surrounded himself with the best that money could command or taste select. He has discarded every tiresome and threadbare feature of the minstrelsy of yesterday. He has sought earnestly for the unusual of today. He has never permitted a tinge of coarseness in his comedy, and he has brought minstrel music to a level with that of any opera organization. In these respects he has done a great work for the American stage, and while contemporaneous biographers may be cold, future historians will link his name with those that even now are semi-classic in the annals of the theater.

THE PROGRESSIVE MINSTREL
W. H. WEST

A few days after rehearsals had been called for "Puddin' head Wilson," in New York recently, Shipman Bros., who are directing the tour of the country, ordered the entire company to a photographer's studio that their pictures might be taken. Upon their arrival he was engaged, but would finish shortly. Miss Dickie Delaro, the "Patsy" of the production, was strolling about the reception room gazing at photographs of celebrities, when suddenly she found herself at the door of the studio proper. She peered in and was just in time to be a party to the little dialogue. The "Sitter" was an elderly gentleman, who had all the appearances of an aggravated case of gout. He looked as

STATES WILL JOIN;
FIGHT ON MERGERGovernor Vasant Arranging for Action Against the Northern Securities Company.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 21.—Governor Van Sant today telegraphed the governors of South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington asking them to meet him in conference to take concerted action to prevent the consolidation of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, and Burlington and has received favorable replies from the governors of Idaho, Nebraska and Washington. Governor Van Sant said:

"Owing to the great interest of the people residing in the states west of us and their great desire to see the attempt to consolidate the Great Northern and Northern and Northern Pacific railroad systems resisted, I have concluded to invite all the governors of states having laws similar to those of Minnesota prohibiting the consolidation of parallel and competing lines of railroad to join in a united effort to defeat the great railroad trust."

North Dakota, Montana, and Washington have laws similar to those of Minnesota, and it is possible that a similar statute exists in Idaho, although that state took no part in the former fight against the consolidation. That fight was led and won by Minnesota, but the authorities of Montana, North Dakota and Washington were actively interested and started a movement in the same direction. It was not necessary for them to complete the movement because of the victory won by Minnesota.

An extra session of the legislature is now regarded as a necessity by most of the state officials and members, as well as by politicians generally who have visited the city.

DETECTIVE CHIEF OUSTED.

Captain Collieran at Chicago Dismissed Under Serious Charges.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—For neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming an officer, Captain Luke P. Collieran, Chief of Detectives and presiding genius of the "front office," has been discharged from the Chicago police department. By the action of the City Civil Service Commission a police career of eighteen years is ended without honor. The first case was that of James Dunlap, a bank robber. The specifications in this case set up that Collieran had attempted to aid Dunlap to escape the law by ordering him "hooked" at the Central station, and that Collieran had attempted to withhold and had destroyed evidences against Dunlap. The second case was that of Harry Featherstone, a pickpocket. Specifications set up the charge that the detective chief had sent out a report that Featherstone was not wanted in Chicago, when, as a matter of fact, he was under indictment here. In the third case Collieran was alleged to have aided "Bill" Barrett, a notorious confidence man, to escape by having him "hooked" when the Milwaukee police were seeking the prisoner on a criminal charge.
